

ALKOOMI

The Lange family 's ALKOOMI vineyards and winery are located in the cool Frankland River region in the far south of Western Australia. Since climatic conditions are similar to those of the classic grape growing regions of France, it is not surprising that Frankland River produces some of the best wines made in Australia. The name ALKOOMI is taken from local aboriginal dialect and means 'a place we chose'. The logo represents the distinctive Australian grass tree which grows majestically in the area.

2010 Shiraz

The cool climate and gravelly loam soils of the Frankland River region in the South of Western Australia are well suited to the production of intense and elegantly structured wines. This wine, made from estate grown Shiraz was picked between 12.8° and 13.7° Baumé to build complexity and give depth to the flavour profile and was matured for 9 months with French oak.

Growing Region:	Frankland River, Western Australia
Vintage:	Bright and sunny autumn days and brisk, cool evenings were ideally suited to the development of intense flavour and colour in the fruit.
Colour:	Vibrant crimson with magenta hues.
Bouquet:	Ripe plums and spicy black pepper with hints of vanilla.
Palate:	Juicy satsuma plums and cherry flavours with savoury leather and peppery spice notes are supported by chewy ripe tannin profile.
Cellaring:	Ready to enjoy now but will increase in complexity over the next three to five years with careful cellaring.
Alcohol:	13.9%